'Very smart' piglet Gidget helps train guide dogs

A THREE-month-old Australian piglet could be the world's first pig to help canines train to become guide dogs

Gidget the piglet attends training sessions at the Association of Australian Assistance Dogs in Mareeba, northern Queensland, for the past three weeks as a training distraction for the dogs, The Cairns Post reports.

Owners Sarah Plowman-Ah Chee and her husband, Lester, said the piglet was given to their son, Augustine, as a baptism gift.

Gidget shares her home with a horse named Beth, a pony named Tony, silky rooster Ralph, Penny the hen and a goat named Mona Lisa.

Sarah Plowman-Ah Chee said the piglet understands there is rest and play time, and slips into different modes when she works with the dogs.

Director of training Liz Oehm said she always wanted to train a pig, and Gidget taught the guide dogs to work with an unusual distraction.

She said pigs were used in training for other animals, but in Australia it was definitely a first for a pig to be in training with about 10 dogs.

“They (dogs) just think she’s another one of them except she snorts,” Oehm said.

“Pigs smell differently to dogs and are very, very smart.”

Editor's Spot

Well what a few months it has been for the Dalmatians during Winter. Congratulations to the newly awarded Dals.

Grand Ch Paceaway Kiwi Konexon - well done Fran!

Champion Throdice Court of Law - needed only 1 point and won Best in Group at Laidley! Well done Jenny.

Champion Varewell White Topaz - my own boy won Challenge Dog at the DAQ Championship Show to get his last few points for his title.

Gearing up for the DAQ Open Show on 18 Sept. Make sure Eileen has your entries. Should be a nice relaxed afternoon for the Dals and don't forget those fun Property Classes. This is such a great opportunity for our aspiring judge to really study the Dalmatian.

Till next month

Julie
